International Day Pass Plan for Yale-owned AT&T devices

Summary

The following information only applies to individuals who have a mobile device on a Yale AT&T plan.

Starting July 1, 2019, individuals who have a Yale-owned mobile device on AT&T will automatically have the International Day Pass plan added. Individuals will no longer need to submit requests for international coverage to Yale ITS when travelling internationally.

Features

- Provides unlimited talk, text, and access to your data plan in over 100 countries
- Charges will only be applied for the time the devices are used abroad

Who can use it?

This service is available to the SOM community on a Yale AT&T plan.

How much does it cost?

$10.00 per day per device for any 24-hour period the device is used in an International Day Pass country, rather than being charged per minute, message or megabyte while traveling. This service is available at no charge to the Yale School of Management community.

What’s excluded?

- Countries not included in International Day Pass countries will incur International Long Distance charges.
- International use abroad cruise ships are NOT included.

How do I get it?

- No action is required on your part. You will receive a text as soon as you arrive in your International Day Pass destination to confirm the plan is active.
- If traveling to a location that is not included in International Day Pass countries you will need to contact SOMIT to have either the 1GB ($60/month) or 3GB ($120/month) International Plan activated.

Related Policy and Procedures

- Remember to turn off automatic updates and background app refreshes so they don’t use your data and trigger the daily fee.
- All users of Yale University computing and networking facilities are expected to read and abide by the Information Technology Appropriate Use Policy. For additional information, please familiarize yourself with the Policies and Procedures related to HIPAA Security.
