Confluence Support

Summary

Confluence is a team collaboration service that gives you a space to create and share files, checklists, meeting notes, and upload/share documents. For the most current Confluence documentation and support articles, utilize Atlassian's Confluence Support Documentation Site.

Step-by-step guide

In order to reach the appropriate site for the Confluence version you're currently running:

1. Log in to Confluence (https://confluence.som.yale.edu/)

2. Click on the Help icon in the top-right corner and select "Online Help" from the menu

3. Search for your specific topic in the search bar or select a topic from the table for more information
